DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. This application contains claims directed to more than one species of the generic invention. These species are deemed to lack unity of invention because they are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

The species are as follows:

Species I drawn to an apparatus for preventing unauthorized copying of printed contents printed on printing paper fig 20.

Species II drawn to an apparatus for preventing unauthorized copying of printed contents printed on printing paper fig 41.

2. Applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single species to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. The reply must also identify the claims readable on the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered non-responsive unless accompanied by an election.

3. Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

The claims are deemed to correspond to the species listed above in the following manner:

Species I: claims 1-15.

Species II: claims 16- 33.

The following claim(s) are generic: None.

The species listed above do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, the species lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons:

Species I requires an apparatus for preventing unauthorized copying of printed contents printed on printing paper, said apparatus comprising: “acquisition means for acquiring pattern information according to the pattern carried by the printing paper; storage means for storing the pattern information acquired by the acquisition means on the printing paper; and verification means for verifying the validity of the printing paper according to the pattern information stored by the storage means”.

While

Species II requires an apparatus for preventing unauthorized copying of printed contents printed on printing paper, said apparatus comprising: “ image pickup means for picking up an image of the pattern carried by the printing paper; extraction means for extracting characteristics of the pattern image picked up by the image pickup means; storage means for storing the characteristics extracted by the extraction means on the printing paper; and verification means for reconfiguring the pattern image according to the characteristics stored by the storage means and verifying the validity of the printing paper according to the reconfigured pattern image” which is not required by Species I.

4. Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement may be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

5. The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To preserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.
